BIOGRAPHY

Caitlin is a senior associate with our litigation group in Halifax, practicing in the areas of commercial and construction litigation.

Caitlin has dealt with disputes during all phases of construction projects, from bidding and tendering to real-time change orders and schedule impacts, liens, and post-project impact and delay claims. She has acted for owners, general contractors, and subcontractors alike, advising clients on claims ranging from $10,000 to over $100 million.

Caitlin also assists on, and manages, a variety of complex commercial litigation matters. Caitlin is experienced in all levels of court in Nova Scotia, as well as written submissions to the Supreme Court of Canada, and domestic and international arbitrations and mediations.

Caitlin obtained her Bachelor of Arts (Honours) from Acadia University and her law degree from Dalhousie. In addition to her practice, Caitlin is an annual course instructor on the law of bidding and tendering for the Construction Association of Nova Scotia (CANS), Vice Chair of The Advocates' Society's Atlantic Advisory Committee, a member of TAS' national Young Advocates' Standing Committee, and a mentor with the Dalhousie Feminist Legal Association at the Schulich School of Law.

Caitlin prides herself on timely and comprehensive strategic advice for clients and their businesses throughout all phases of their projects and litigation matters.
