BIOGRAPHY

Sarah is an Associate in the St. John's office of Cox & Palmer. She has an insurance litigation practice that includes experience in motor vehicle liability, personal injury, and negligence. She has appeared in both Provincial and Supreme Court.

Originally from Prince Edward Island, Sarah graduated with a BA in psychology from Dalhousie University and subsequently obtained an LLB from Dalhousie Law School. She was admitted to the Newfoundland and Labrador Bar in 1995.

Sarah temporarily left the practice of law to develop and deliver a Paralegal program at a College, and to focus on her growing family. She returned to active practice in 2015 and is part of Cox & Palmer's insurance litigation group.
